ITALY REFUSES TO EVACUATE CORFU

BATTLESHIP TEXAS DAMAGED IN CRASH WITH SHIP IN FOG

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 12.—Ploughing through a heavy sea and dense fog, the battleship Texas crashed headlong into the freighter Steel Seafarer, off Point Arguello light at 6.55 o'clock this morning, according to word received today at Los Angeles harbor by the Radio Corporation of America. The crash occurred within 14 miles of the rocks where seven United States destroyers went on the rocks Saturday night and within 50 miles of where the Pacific mail steamer Cuba also crashed on Saturday.

The message from the Steel Seafarers stated that a large hole had been punched in her side by the battleship's armored prow.

The Texas navigators, evidently catching sight of the Steel Seafarer just before the crashes she loomed out of the fog, reversed the battleship's powerful engines, narrowly averting a third total disaster in the same locality within a week The Texas is believed to have escaped serious injury because of the heavy belt of armor protecting her.

The message from the Steel Seafarer, signed by her master, Captain Fitzsimmons, stated that the freighter, which left Los Angeles harbor Saturday for San Francisco, was proceeding on her way north. Captain Fitzsimmons expected to make San Francisco Bay safely if the weather did not grow worse, the message stated. Collision mats were placed over the big hole in the Steel Seaferer's side which had alread shipped tons of water as the seas broke over the opening.

The war vessel was returning to San Pedro, after maneuvers in the north and was due at Los Angeles harbor this afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The freighter Steel Seafarer, which was rammed by the U. S. S. Texas was enroute from Baltimore to San Francisco, when the crash came.

The Steel Seafarer is operated by Norton, Lilly and Company here.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—The collision of the battleship Texas on the Pacific coast today is the second accident to the vessel since she was commissioned in 1914, according to naval officials. At the beginning of the world war, the Texas went aground on Long Island, but was not seriously damaged. She later became a part of the allied grand fleet in European waters.

The Texas left San Francisco yesterday with several other warships for San Pedro.

She carries a crew of about 1400 men.

The navy department received its first news of the Point Arguello collision from International News service.

DASH DORMAS IS ASSESSED $1,000 FINE

Given Limit When Arraigned Before Mayor—Lorain Man Is Fined $1,000 Here

The price of handling liquor went up this morning in the case of Dash Dormas who was arrested several days ago after officers had found some raisin jack in a pitcher at his place of business on Western Heights. He was tried by Mayor Jones and found guilty, and a fine of $1000 and costs was imposed. In previous cases in court he was fined $200 and costs on one occasion and $500 and costs another

His attorney filed a motion for a new trial this morning, and he gave bond until the motion can be heard In case it is overruled the case will probably be appealed.

A V. Borourcz, of Lorain, was fined $1,000 and costs by Judge Webber yesterday afternoon for the illegal possession of liquor. His arrest was caused by Prohibition officer Frank Kiady, who found fourteen gallons of liquor in his place of business.

Lowell Snyder and Thomas Walters, Lorain, were also fined $100 and costs each on a charge of transporting liquor. They had a bottle of wine with them which they smashed when the officers appeared.

WHITE PLAGUE HOSPITAL NOW URGED FOR CO.

A meeting is to be held in this cit next Thursday at which Lorain, Elyria and the rural districts will be represented by those interested in building a tubercular sanitarium in this county. An effort will be made to form a public health association whose duty it will be to work for the erection of a sanitarium as soon as possible.

A few days ago the county commissioners visited the Akron sanitarium at Springfield Lake, where 129 patients are being cared for. They were accompanied by a number of nurses from throughout the county, and found a very efficient work was being done. The sanitarium cost about $160,000 to maintain during the past year, and the commissioners will proceed very carefully before committing themselves to such a proposition.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—The American people have subscribed more than $5,500,000 for relief work in Japan, and subscriptions are still pouring in from all parts of the country, national headquarters of the American Red Cross announced this afternoon.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES TOLD BY REFUGEES

Others Relate Terrifying Experiences With Robbers, Looters and Vandals in Quake Area

SHANGHAI, Sept. 12—Harrowing stories of narrow escapes from death and injury in the fearful earthquake and fire disaster of Japan continue to be told by numerous refugees arriving here almost daily from the stricken cities of Yokohama and Tokio.

Mrs. F. R Carroll, wife of the Tokio manager of the Goodrich Rubber Company, and her two children, had a narrow escape from death when the Temple Court hotel at Tokio collasped over their heads, killing and injuring several other guests

At the very start of the terrific vibration Mrs. Carroll snatched her children and took refuge in a doorway while the hotel building fell in ruins about them

Mother's Advice Helps

"I remembered the advice my mother gave me on what to do during an earthquake," Mrs. Carroll told International News Service today

"My mother went through the San Francisco earthquake and owes her life to the fact that she stood under a doorway while the California metropolis went to the street level."

Plaster, pictures, beams and other material crashed around Mrs. Carroll and her two children with a terrific roar and piled into dusty heaps of debris all about the doorway, but without one single bit of flying wreckage striking either of the three sheltered people Mrs. Carroll's prompt action undoubtedly saved the lives of the little family. After the destroying first shock was over Mrs. Carroll and her children dug themselves out of the Temple Court ruins and spent the night in one of the city parks.

Another refugee who had a miraculous escape is S. R. Murphy, of San Francisco, who was a guest at the Imperial hotel at Tokio when the Japanese capital was shaken to its doom.

Commenting on his experiences through the fearful disaster, Murphy said:

"The shock was terrific. In an instant everything began to collapse and fall with a racket that could be heard for miles around. How I pulled through alive is more than I can understand for the Imperial hotel came down like a thousand tons of brick. Through some divine kindness, I wasn't hurt at all by any of the falling wreckage even though I was virtually buried in a mountain of debris. After some real hard work I managed to bore my way out and reached the open street. Fires were going full blast everywhere. They seemed to have started with a horrible suddenness.

"The panic and confusion were simply beyond description. I stayed in one of the parks for several hours huddled right in with hundreds of thousands of terror stricken refugees.

"Somehow I got started in the general direction of Yokohama and kept on going. Most of the distance was covered on foot, though now and then I would be lucky enough to hire a rickshaw for a mile or so.

Thousands of Refugees

"Along the route from Tokio to Yokohama, I saw thousands and thousands of fleeing refugees. Many injured were dying by the wayside without the slightest medical assistance. It was impossible to give aid to them. Everything was in a state of uncontrollable pandemonium.

"Great fissures were opened along several stretches of the road I followed and in these I saw refugees dying—apparently from injuries they received when they fell into the deep earth fissures.

"I reached Yokohama Sunday morning and found the great seaport engulfed in a whirlwind of flame. The whole water front was flooded with burning oil sprayed

CREMATED 97,000 BODIES OF QUAKE VICTIMS IN JAPAN

SHANGHAI, Sept. 12.—Huge funeral pyres continue to blaze day and night throughout the horror district of Japan as an apparently unending supply of their ghastly fuel keeps on pouring in from sections of the devastated region.

Fully 97,000 corpses have been cremated in Tokio and Yokohama alone, according to semi official reports reaching Shanghai today.

47,200 dead have been burned in Tokio while fully 50,000 have been reduced to ashes in Yokohama.

By actual count over 316,000 houses were destroyed by fire in Tokio.

The total fire insurance for Yokohama and Tokio amounts to about $2,000,000,000. This is over eight times the available capital of all the insurance companies involved. Full payment will be impossible.

Relief for the millions of sufferers is pouring in from all sides as a result of splendid distributing organization. The supply is more than ample for all needs. The situation everywhere is well in hand

Japanese on all sides are expressing deep appreciation for the sincere interest the United States is taking in the stricken empire American generosity will have a far reaching effect in promoting future cordial relations and in bringing about a real understanding between the two countries, according to Kyoto government officials.

The work of rehabilitating Tokio is progressing rapidly. Thousands of Japanese and Chinese are employed in the undertaking After all bodies have been disposed of, the task of clearing away mountains of debris will be started. When the debris has been removed the actual work of reconstruction will begin

Foreigners are leaving the disaster region as fast as accommodations will permit. All vestiges of vandalism and looting are reported to have disappeared as a result of the application of forceful measures and the merciless shooting down of those caught in the act of committing crime.

IMPLICATES 2 IN MANY OHIO HOLD UP JOBS

DAYTON, Sept. 12.—Eugene "Red" Webb and Mrs. Jean Foley, held as suspects in the Farmers National Bank robbery at Greenville, today are believed by police to have been implicated in other robberies in the Miami valley.

Webb, Burton Carter and Mrs. Foley were named in true bills of indictment on charges of robbery and complicity in robbery, returned by the Darke county grand jury in special session.

Police learned today that Carter, owner of the motorcycle, believed to have been abandoned by the bandits, was released ten weeks ago after serving a prison term in the Ohio state penitentiary. Carter has been arrested and is a prisoner in the Greenville city jail

Finding of several bundles of postage stamps in the Foley woman's room in Springfield leads authorities to believe that she and possibly Webb, took part in the robbery of the Saint Paris post office several weeks ago in which $400 worth of stamps were taken.

Officer Roy Chapman, who made the arrests, caught a glimpse of a moving shadow as he was passing the place. He investigated The men evidently were getting ready to leave the store through a grate in the back part of the building. When they refused to surrender, he shot, the bullet striking Williams in the right heel. Williams was only slightly injured. The men then shouted to the policeman not to shoot again. Both surrendered. According to Chief J. W. Thompson, the men admitted they intended to dispose of the stolen loot to a "fence" in Pittsburgh.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—A proposal to raise $500,000 for ministerial relief within the bounds of the M. E. conference was made when Rev. Frnak A. Arter, 83, for more than fifty years a member of the conference offered to contribute $100,000 upon condition that the churches of the conference raise the remaining $400,000. SEEKS TO LINK COUNTS WITH RUM PLOT

Witness Testifies Between $60,000 and $69,000 Was Given in "Hush" Money

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—That he placed between $60,000 and $69,000 into the hands of A. Frank Counts for "service rendered" and future protection to Auerbach Brothers and Company, manufacturers of "Million Dollar Hair Tonic," was the story told in federal district court here today by Samuel Selker, star witness for the government in its trial of A. Frank Counts and his brother Fred Counts, former prohibition agent for Cleveland; Samuel Hoskins, former chairman of the state civil service commission, and Joseph Shearer, former prohibition director of Ohio, on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition laws.

According to his own testimony Selker was the go-between for Frank Counts and Benjamin Schwartz, lawyer for the Auerbachs

Counts told me one of the Schwartz's clients had gotten into a jam with prohibition agents," Selker said, "and asked me to help out. I went to see Schwartz nd he told me to ask Frank Counts how much he would take to straighten things out."

"I returned and asked Frank and after thinking it over he said "It'll cost $5,000.' When I said I thought that was too much Frank Counts said, 'I don't believe so. It's well worth it.'"

After considerable negotiations a deal was arranged, according to Selker, whereby Counts was to receive $5,000 to secure the release of five barrels of alcohol then being held by federal agents and was to get $5,000 weekly for future "protection" which included tipping the Auerbachs off to "anything of interest to them."

The payments were made more or less regularly, Selker said. Schwartz, he said, always kept out $1,000 of each $5,000 for himself so that only $4,000 of each payment reached Counts.

Selker admitted keeping a little more than $5,000 out of the total amount for hmiself. He couldn't afford to be a "messenger boy" for nothing, he said.

Counts, he said, remonstrated at the $4,000 instead of the promised $5000, and remarked, "that's a poor way to do business"

When asked by Martin A. Mc Cormick, assistant to A. E. Bernsteen for the prosecution, how he arrived at the total figures of the payments, Selkers said: "Frank Counts and I went over the figures together several times." Schwartz finally left town, Selker said, and many of the payments were made by Louis Auerbach personally.

Regarding the dispute with Jugo-Slavia over administration of Fiume, Mussolini told his cabinet:

"Our last conciliatory proposals regarding Fiume are still unanswered by Belgrade. Excitement over the issue is premature. There still remains possibility of a direct agreement without arbitration. I am ready to give documentary proof of the good faith and patience of Italy."

Mussolini's report was long covering the whole range of European troubles. Regarding the Ruhr, he said:

"Ruhr tension was lessened after Chancellor Stresemann's speech. We are entering contact. The ground is being cleared. Italy is directly interested in the settlement. The people may rest assured our interests will be protected whether there are diplomatic negotiations for settlement or allied conference."

Paris, Sept. 12.—The inter allied council of ambassadors met at noon without reaching any decision upon the Greek-Italian situation. They adjourned to meet later in the day.

GULBRANSEN
The Registering Piano

Singing is Half the Joy of Owning a Gulbransen

The songs you like best to hear, sung by some loved voice, to your own softly-accented, perfectly-timed accompaniment on a Gulbransen. There's genuine enjoyment for you!

Select your song rolls from the hundreds upon hundreds available, with the words already printed on them. The key they are pitched in doesn't matter. Too high? Too low? Just turn a knob. The Gulbransen instantly transposes.

An ordinary song roll may be played as a splendid and correct accompanying number, on the Gulbransen. The difficult fingering is taken care of by the roll. Through the pedals you register your touch, your time, your expression, following exactly the interpretation given the song by the vocalist.

Four simple Instruction Rolls—exclusive with the Gulbransen—show a method of correct playing. Bear this in mind, too: you can play any make of roll, even electric reproducing rolls, on your Gulbransen.

PITTSFIELD

By Mrs. M A. Campbell

PITTSFIELD, Sept. 12.—Carl Ives has a new Ford coupe.

Mrs. Jane Betts, who for the last year has made her home in Oberlin, has now, with her granddaughter, Helen Widdowson, removed to the home of the granddaughter, Mrs. Reed Ives, to make her home there indefinitely.

Merton Mohrman motored to Willard on Saturday and took with him the Wellington high school football team, of the year 1021, and played against the Willard team and they won the game.

Silo filling is being done on several fgrms each day. On Monday ther were at least seven different fillers at work.

Mr. and Mrs. William Eastman of Elyria, were guests at the home of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Brown, Monday afternoon and night. Mr. Eastman returned Tuesday morning, his wife remaining for another day's visit.

Mrs. Clarence Stevens entertained the Ladies' Aid society on Thursday with a pleasantly spent day for all present.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Peard spent Saturday in Elyria.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gannet removed last week from Wellington into the vacant house of Clarence Metcalf.

Mr. and Mrs. John Widdowson, of Cleveland, were over-Sunday guests at the home of their niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Ives.

Lois Brown received first premium on embroidered pillow cases at Elyria fair. She is a member of the sewing class of the Jewells of the Farm Woman's club, of Russia township, who had a fine showing of their handkerchiefs at the fair.

The Tucker family, of Cleveland, held their annual reunion in the O. J. Whitney grove on Sunday. They had a large company and apparently had a pleasant time at a beautiful grove.

Pittsfield has twenty-six students attending Wellington high school this year. They are Blanche Betts,, Sylvia Glynn, Pauline Gibbons, Luella Hines, Jessie Sheffield, Ruth Sheffield, Hope Shuster, Helner Stoska, Ruth Waite, Iona West and Doris Zimmerman, and Charles Gibbons, Kenneth Jordan, Charles Miller, Edward Miller, Forest Mohrman, Perry Mohrman, Harold Nash, Wesley Pitts, Henry Sheffield, Paul Shuster, Charles Waite, Freddy West, Arthur Whitney, Murice and Vernet Zimmerman.

H. E. Bartlett received twenty first and ten second premiums on his flock of Southdown and Schropshire sheep shown at the Elyria fair last week.

Forest Mohrman spent Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Mohrman in Elyria.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ives and children, of Oberlin, spent Sunday at the home of their uncle, Frank Betts.

Miss Fannie West commenced her school work as teacher in East Cleveland school. This is her fourth year there and speaks well for her qualification and enthusiasm for the work.

Our schools all began Wednesday, September 5th, with the following list of teachers installed in special district No. 1: Mr. Shalk, of Sullivan; special district No. 2, Mr. Phillips, of Elyria; district No. 3, Herman Gannett, of Wellington; district No. 4, Miss Lucile Thompson, of Rochester; district No. 5, Mrs. Herman Gannett, of Wellington; district No. 6, Miss Helene Jeffries, of Carlisle; district No. 7, Miss Eva Murch, of Wellington.

Miss Carrie Pease, of Oberlin, was an over-Sunday guest at the C. D. Pickworth home.

Mrs. George Waite will entertain the Ladies' Aid society next Thursday.

Members of the Oberlin Rod and Gun club and their families had a picnic Saturday afternoon at the home of one of their members, Walter Henson. There were about fifty present. Sports of various kinds preceded the picnic supper on the lawn. A shower made some different arrangements in the scheduled program, but all apparently enjoyed the afternoon to the limit, and pronounced the Henson home an ideal place for a picnic.

Miss Sara Garrett was taken to Oberlin hospital Thursday to have her tonsils removed.

SHERIFF BEFORE JURY.

Sheriff Underhill has been called to Cleveland today to testify before the Federal grand jury against Paul Fodor, of Olmsted. The sheriff helped Cuyahoga county officials in a liquor raid at Fodor's home some time ago.

More for Your Money

Swapping things—as when our grandmothers traded eggs for calico at the cross-roads store—gives a better understanding of values. By measuring one thing against another we too can often judge values more clearly.

Coal and wages make up more than half the manufacturing cost of cement.

The chart above shows price fluctuations for portland cement, coal and wages during the past ten years. In each case 100 is used to represent 1913 figures, by the Government departments which compiled these statistics.

Translated into "eggs and calico" language, this chart shows that a ton of coal would buy nearly twice as much cement in 1922 as in 1913. A day's wages also would buy more cement in 1922 than in 1913.

This means that even though coal and wages make up more than half its manufacturing cost, cement is now relatively lower in price than either coal or wages.

So, considering these increased costs, it is plain that in buying cement you get more for your money than before.

V-63

EXPECT GREAT THINGS
in the NEW CADILLAC

Even the superb quality which you have long associated with the name Cadillac is no adequate measure of the merits of the New V-63.

The simple truth is that Cadillac has advanced its own standards and achieved, in this car, heights of quality which are strictly new.

Your attention is directed, partic[illegible] to these three elements:—

The New Cadillac V-Type 90°, 8-cylinder engine—harmonized and balanced by entirely new principles of design to a degree of smoothness unapproached in automotive manufacture.

New Body Styl[illegible]tined by their graceful, symmetric[illegible]sign, distinctive finish and exquisite appointments, to be the center of admiration in any company.

Cadillac 4 Wheel Brakes—a safety factor developed with the care and thoroughness characteristic of Cadillac engineering.

New delights await you also in enhanced dependability, ease of control, riding restfulness and, indeed, in every phase of car performance.

It is entirely logical that Cadillac, pioneer-leader of eight-cylinder manufacture in America, should now raise multi-cylinder practice to an even higher pitch of excellence.

This is exactly what has happened in the New V-63, and Cadillac urges you to approach this fine car with great expectations.

ELYRIANS TO PLAY ON AMHERST TEAM

TULK, PETRO AND AMBROSE SIGNED WITH PRO ELEVEN

Those gridiron fans who have a [illegible] to see independent football during the fall months will not be without their wish this season. Lorain county will be able to boast one of the fastest machines in this section of the Buckeye area, if present plans materialize.

The Ruth semi-pros have again entered the field for Amherst.

Negotiations are under way to bring the Favorite Knits of Cleveland as the Ruth's first opponents for Sept. 30th.

The team will be composed of players from all parts of the county. They have leased Krohn field, at Penfield Junction. It will be ready for the pigskin warriors at an early date.

Jack Ambrose, the dashing quarterback from this city has been signed to perform for the team, which he may also coach. Petro, former Michigan Aggie star and Tulk, another Elyrian, are included in the list.

Owen and Goulde, the crack pair of ends that worked the wings to perfection last fall are expected back in a Ruth uniform again. Frey, Cleveland football official and halfback will perform at one of the halves.

The Ruth's plan on landing several players this week and when the Cleveland Indians, professional outfit starts its first workouts in Cleveland. They are still without the services of a fullback.

A number of Oberlin stars will also be seen in the Amherst uniforms, Ambrose said this afternoon.

LORAIN GRIDDERS INELIGIBLE TO PLAY ON STATE ELEVEN

LORAIN, Sept. 12.—Alex Klein, former Lorain high school athlete and center on Ohio State's grid combination last fall, will not be eligible to play for the Buckeyes this season because of trouble with his studies. Klein was practically assured of the pivot position since he was the only veteran back for the center job.

Dave Klein, his brother and also a promising candidate will be unable to perform for Dr Wilce's crew because of an injured shoulder.

The absence of the two Kleins from the football horizon at State for this season at least, will mark the first time in many years that Lorain has not been represented on the first team at the Ohio institution.

This city has been in the habit of furnishing the centers for Dr. Wilce, the Ohio State mentor. Andy Nemesek, Gilliam, Kaplow and Alex Klein have all held first team berths on the Scarlet and Gray outfit.

Greb and Downey Sign For Battle

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12.—Harry Greb, world's champion middleweight, and Bryan Downey, at one time claimant for the title, will sign articles for a 12-round bout at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Sept. 24, it was learned here today. This will be Greb's first fight since he won the championship.

BIG SCORES AT RIFLE TOURNEY

CAMP PERRY, O., Sept. 12.—Because of the record breaking shooting, and unusually large entry lists, the national rifle matches now being held here were moving forward slowly today.

John B. Grier, of Rockland, Del., shooting as an unattached civilian, won the 300 yard rapid fire service rifle match. His first string was a perfect fifty He tied with Lieutenant G. A. Rehm, of Fort Des Moines, Iowa, and Private R. D. White, of the Marine corps. In the shoot off Grier scored forty eight out of fifty. Rehm and White tied with forty seven each.

In the international team tryouts, Sergeant Morris Fisher of the marine corps is leading the field, with Commander C. T. Osburn, of the navy, second Both men shot on the international team last year at Milan, Italy, when the United States won the cup for the second time.

Colonel John Caswell, of New York City, well known big game hunter, and amateur sportsman, made a new trapshooting record here with a score of 196 out of a possible 200.

The entries in the matches which started yesterday set new records for rifle history. For the Leech cup, winning which means practically the long range rifle championship of the world, there are 824 entries. In the national rifle association members match, a 600 yard military type rifle and ammunition affair, there are 1015. In the navy cup match which starts this afternoon there are 727 expert riflemen. Ten teams will contest in the infantry team match Teams from the national guards of Ohio, Tennessee, Wyoming and Texas will buck the regulars and marines.

Lieutenant James Boa. of Montreal, is the first Canadian to appear. He will shoot in the 300 and 600 yard international matches.

Lorain Golfers Decide Titles

SOMEBODY MAY GET SLAPPED FOR ROW OF JAP EARTHQUAKES IN FEATHER GO

Johnny Dundee in action and K. O. George Chaney.

If the customary threats of dire happenings to come materialise someone is going to get smacked for a row of Japanese earthquakes when Johnny Dundee, feather champ, and George Kayo Chaney, the Baltimore knockerout, clash at Cleveland. Chaney says the fight's in and a lot of other unkind things and Dundee chirps ditto. So far the verbal battle is even. Both lads hankered for a crack at Johnny Kilbane and both got it. Chaney got it both ways when Killy smacked him down at Cedar Point back in the years of Johnny's greatness. Dundee got it both ways also. He got the feather diadem by licking Criqui but the best he could do with Killy in the days of his youth was a draw. They meet Sept. 15

UNITED STATES TIRE - USCO TREAD

To most everybody 30 x 3½ means USCO

NATURALLY USCO'S could hardly have delivered such money's worth—tire after tire—without making a clean sweep.

It's been a pretty performance every time—no two opinions about that.

And no two opinions about what tire to get again after a man has once used USCO.

RESTRICT THE POWER

There is a constant tendency for power in any organization to gravitate from the many to the few. It is so in some societies, clubs, governments and even in ecclesiastical organizations. The Methodist Episcopal Church is remarkably organized for the service which it renders to humanity. While the power originally comes from the people themselves, the execution of the will of the people of the church is reposed in the hands of the episcopacy and they operate largely through the district superintendents who are appointed by them. The bishops are elected for life. The district superintendents formerly were limited in the period of time which they could serve, but from time to time a larger number of district superintendents were elected to the general Conference, the law making body of the church, and finally this restriction on the time limit of the district superintendents was removed, the large number of district superintendents themselves making up the vote in the General Conference.

With the bishops serving a life tenure and the district superintendents unlimited in their tenure, it naturally affords an opportunity of strong organization. From the rank and file of the ministry and laymen, there is being voiced objection to this arrangement and resolutions are being adopted proposing to restore to these district superintendents the time limit and send them back again to the ranks of the ministers from time to time. This is not surprising. It is the spirit of democracy working out in the great body of the Methodist Episcopal Church in this country.

At one time this church represented among Protestants the common people more completely than did any other ecclesiastical organization. This may not be true now, but at the same time there is a spirit of equality and democracy in its membership and that spirit insists on recognizing a most palpable truth that the masses cannot afford to turn their power irrevocably over to any one or to a few for there is always a danger in power being abused. Those who serve should know that they must represent the ones whom they serve and the best way to keep that knowledge constantly before them is to limit and restrict the power which they possess and the time which they may use it. The truth is the same wherever it is applied.

NO NEED FOR FEAR

Just as soon as an industrial dispute has been settled and the country is about to get down to real operations, another Red plot for the overthrow of the nation and possibly of the world is discovered. But they are coming so often that the people are not as thoroughly disturbed as they used to be. We are not greatly worried over the stability of our institutions. We have faith in them. We would not be worried over the efforts of a child or an idiot who was attempting to grasp the foundations of our national capitol proposing to overturn the huge blocks. We would not stop to interfere with them.

We are not worried over these alleged efforts to overthrow the government. Our government is secure. We are not worried over the public speeches that are made. Get these things out in the open where they can be answered and clarified. If they are only alleged grievances, when they are presented, the facts can be pointed out.

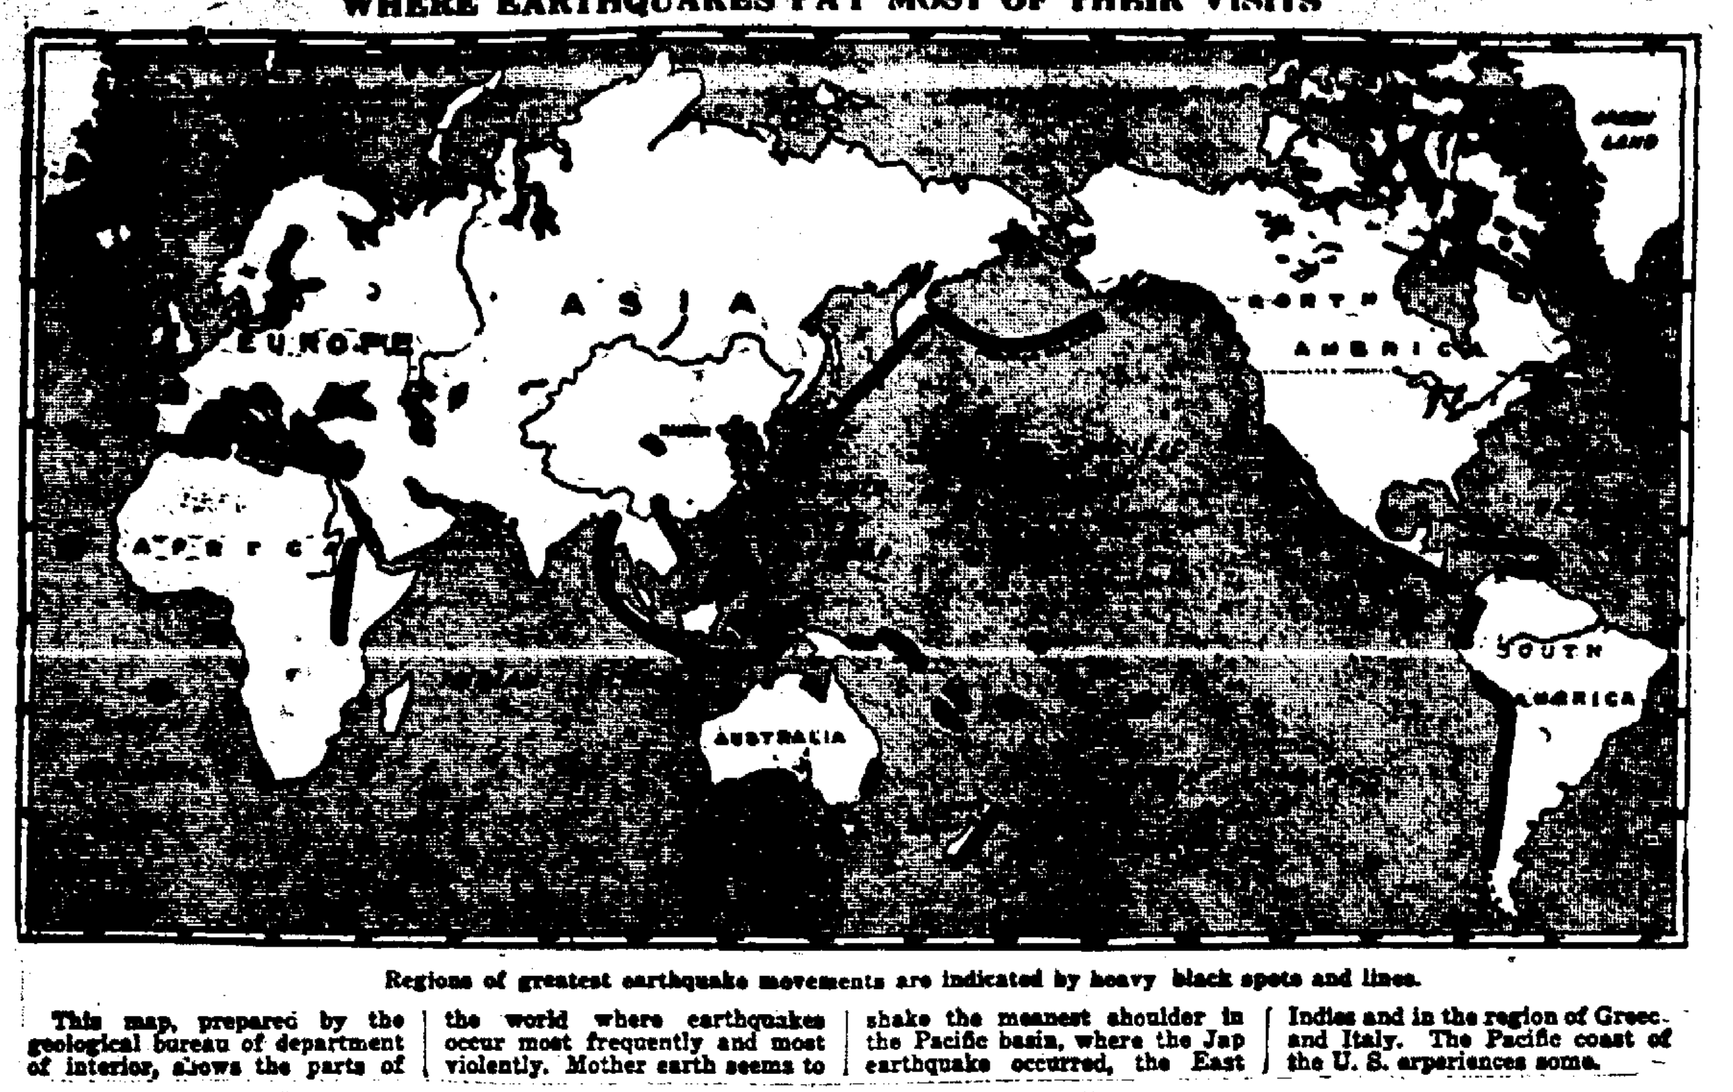
We almost envy Great Britain because of the majesty and quietness with which she proceeds about her labor. The free speech of Hyde Park does not disturb her. Extreme pronunciamentoes of radicals do not frighten her. She knows her institutions have the confidence of the people and whatever changes are to be made will be made slowly and in harmony with right and justice. If mistakes are made the steps will be retraced and we have faith in our own institutions that the foundations are laid more deeply in public confidence, in knowledge and education, than to have constant fear of a revolution.

LET'S DO OUR PART

The Chronicle-Telegram calls especial attention to the notice of the mass meeting which has been called by the Red Cross for 3:30 Sunday afternoon next in the auditorium of the First Congregational Church, to devise ways and means of raising our quota of $3,700.00 toward the fund for the relief of distress in bleeding Japan.

We are certain that this call will meet with a hearty response. The auditorium should be packed. Every one of our citizens here and in the surrounding county should feel that he must do his part in this great humanitarian movement to succor a sorely stricken nation.

WHERE EARTHQUAKES PAY MOST OF THEIR VISITS



Regions of greatest earthquake movements are indicated by heavy black spots and lines.

This map, prepared by the geological bureau of department of interior, shows the parts of the world where earthquakes occur most frequently and most violently. Mother earth seems to shake the meanest shoulder in the Pacific basin, where the Jap earthquake occurred, the East Indies and in the region of Greec. and Italy. The Pacific coast of the U. S. experiences some.

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"GREECE READY FOR REPUBLIC," WRITES VENIZELOS, RETIRING

On the eve of departure from the Lausanne conference for his home near Nice, Venizelos addressed to his compatriots in Greece his valedictory on retirement from public life. By a curious coincidence the farewell address was published in the Athenian papers two days before the tragedy in Epirus, of which some of his phrases seem to have prophetic import:

"If only we manage to keep down our political passions, if each one of us Greeks ceases to be a medea, who 'was perfectly conscious of the evils she was going to commit but whose passion was master of her reason' we may look forward to the future with confidence."

In regard to the republican movement in Greece he wrote:

"I believe that the late King's personal policy has shaken the very foundations of the royal institution in Greece; nor do I consider the Greek people as still immature for a purely republican regime. Perhaps one might doubt their maturity for carrying on the institution of a 'monarchial democracy,' which constitutes a more complicated regime. For these reasons I find that the creation of a Republican party destined gradually to enlighten the people on the real meaning of a pure republic and to constitute an oppositional force, looming in the mind of the existing regime and restraining it from constitutional trespasses, is uite natural."

He then denounced in the strongest terms any idea of enforcing by violence upon the country a republic, which would, in the the circumstances mean only the establishment of a disguised dictatorship.

"NEW DEFINITION OF LABOR TERMS WOULD ELIMINATE SOME DIFFERENCES."

One cause of misunderstanding between capital and labor according to J. D. Hackett, consultant on labor problems, writing in Management Engineering, is that they do not speak the same language; that is, a word means one thing to the employee and another to the employer. "Many strikes have occurred through different interpretation of common labor terms," he says, "and in such a crisis the dictionary, as it stands today, is almost useless."

Among words on which the dictionary falls down he lists "quit," "lay-off," "turnover" and many others. "The blame should not be placed wholly on the dictionary." he adds. "Its function is to record, not to dictate usage; it accepts no word until some consensus in meaning has been reached."

"Turnover," for instance, Hackett points out, "is rather a new word in industry; it has been written and spoken multitudes of times in the last decade. It will not be found in the dictionary as having any industrial meaning but the fault lies with people who deal with labor matters."

" 'Turnover' is variously written: 'overturn,' turnover,' or 'turn-over,' but at best it is an unhappy choice, borowed from merchandising and applied to industry in a wholly different sense. The merchant delights in the turnover of his stock; the employes deplores the turnover of labor."

"According to the dictionary" Mr. Hackett continues, "to quit is: 'to satisfy, as a claim or debt; discharge, as an obligation. to set free, release, absolve; to meet the claims upon; to complete, spend; to depart from, go away from, leave; to resign, give up, let go.' Here uit, discharge and resign are very badly mixed. The expression is used: "Thousands of men quit," but the details indicate a strike, although the incident is also referred to in the first paragraph as a walkout. A strike a walkout and a quit are essentially different.

Frank Stetson had his kidding clothes on and he met "Buck" Berkline. "Heard you had a new automobile," the officer greeted him. "Yes", replied the popular attorney. "I got a Detroit eight". Now "Buck" was curious to see it and walked around the corner and Frank showed him a bran new flivver. "Where do you get that Detroit eight stuff?" "Four cylinders and four wheels." Then the officer called up the chief.

If you ever go on a fishing trip your stock drops about ninety per cent among the better people. Charlie Tucker mailed me a clipping advertising a hollow oar that can be filled with a well known liquor, and he suggested my taking the agency and selling them to my friends. If they buy one—they won't do much rowing.

Ernie Leedale picked out a nice place to fish and he invited Bill Daney and Art Simmons and John Proudfoot to go along. They hitched up the automobile and started. After they arrived on the scene they fished for four solid hours, then it was time to get back and tend to business. It was in the northern part of Canada and only took them three days to drive each way.

"Jeff" the hardware king was telling one he overheard at the county fair. He was standing in the Studebaker booth admiring the new models when an elderly lady entered and inspected the late models, sat in the coupe and told Cliff "Your cars are very nice, and I like them better than ever, but I don't see how Mister Ford can get them out at such a low price."

The sun shines in Ohio, but the moonshines everywhere. But Coolidge hasn't been President very long.

Bernie O'Donnell is back from Europe. His tenants are glad he didn't stay any longer—rents are high enough now.

The lawn mower is getting ready to give the snow shovel the laugh. Pretty near time for the mower to go on a long vacation.

Burke finally threw his hat in the ring for Governor. President King gives his unqualified endorsement, the King can do no wrong.

If Crabbe and White and Burke are candidates, no use of the "wets" going to the polls.

Don't see what he wants to be governor for—he's got two automobiles now. It's a queer world.

Course there's no use of my worrying about that Cleveland don't play at home till October 5 anyway.

And when Burke's Governor, I'm going to write the editorials, that ought to get a laugh.

All he needs is the backing of the Anti Saloon league, that's about all anyone needs.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

R. B. CREAGER.

It is generally believed that R. B. Creager, Texas banker, will be appointed U. S. amabassador to Mexico in a few days. Creager was known to be the choice of the late President Harding for the post. President Coolidge recently held a long conference with Creager and since this talk Washington understands that the new executive desires to make no change in the plan.

R. B. CREAGER

Creager, whose home is in Brownsville, Tex., was host to President Harding when the chief executive was president-elect. The Texan lived in Mexico for years and is therefore well acquainted with conditions, customs and manners. He is also in full accord with the president's views on the Mexican situation and in close touch with the administration. Creager is married and has an interesting family. He never has taken a prominent part in national politics although he has been interested in Republican circles for many years.

POEMS THAT LIVE

THE OLD STOIC.

Riches I hold in light esteem,
And love I laugh to scorn;
And lust of fame was but a dream,
That vanished with the morn;

And if I pray, the only prayer
That moves my lips for me
Is, "Leave the heart that now I bear,
And give me liberty!"

Yes, as my swift days near their goal,
'Tis all that I implore;
In life and death a chainless soul
With courage to endurance.

MEDINA

MEDINA, O., Sept. 12.—Datis Johnson, of Seville, was pickpocketed of $45 while attending a klan gathering at Chippewa Lake.

Mrs. Mary Spice, F. LeRoy Straub and C. M. Metzger, local chiropractors, are under arrest on charge of practicing medicine without a state license.

A. Cagen and George Hovis, Elyria, for attempted assault and James McNamara, Philip Donahue and Francis Robbo, Cleveland, autotheft.

William Pillace, who has just immigrated to Medina from northern Germanyfi says he was earning 1,000,000 marks daily when he left the fatherland. He is an expert auto mechanic.

ATHENS, Sept. 12.—A. D. Allen, of Boston, who was entertaining two young men from Newark, was fined $500 here for giving them liquor. They "peached" on him after their arrest on a drunk charge.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Interest in the annual meeting of the British Association which assembles at Liverpool today centers in the opening address of the president, Sir Ernest Rutherford, who is announced to speak on the "Electrical Structure of Matter." Sir Ernest has made a number of the most remarkable discoveries of modern physical science, and may well be expected to contribute something unusual. For many years he has been Langworthy professor and director of the physical laboratories at the University of Manchester. Today he is one of the best known physicists in the world, holding degrees from upwards of a dozen universities in Europe and America, and having received medals and decorations from numerous scientific societies and higher institutions of learning. Sir Ernest has devoted much attenton in recent years to radio activity and has written a number of books on the phenomena of radio active substances and their radiations.

WIFE NO. 2 MAY BECOME WIFE NO. 5 UNLESS WIFE NO. 3 GETS THERE FIRST

If someone took the time and trouble to call up Nat Goodwin on the ouija board and mentioned the name of Willard Mack, successor to Nat as the sheik of the domain of many, quick and easy marriages and divorces, the answer probably would be a wave of ghostly jealousy which would knock the listener for a row of copyrighted Japanese earthquakes. Due to the matrimonial upsets of Mack and two of his recent wives Marjorie Rambeau, No. 2, and Pauline Frederick, No. 3, Broadway now is wondering whether Wife No. 2 or Wife No. 3 will be Wife No. 5 as soon as Wife No. 4, Beatrice Stone, is no longer an obstacle.

MANY NARROW ESCAPES TOLD BY REFUGEES

from exploding tanks of the Standard Oil Company and the Rising Sun Oil Company.

"It was hours before I was able to get into a sampan and be taken out to the steamer Steel Navigator which was anchored in the harbor outside of the danger zone of oil covered water Together with a crowd of other refugees I was taken to Kobe and from that port I finally got passage to Shanghai.

"I am indeed surprised that my hair didn't turn gray.

Murphy is a salesman of seismological equipment and had just completed an inspection of this kind of apparatus at the imperial university of Tokio.

Other refugees report terrifying experiences with robbers, looters and vandals who held sway in the devastated areas shortly after the great catastrophe. Many foreigners escaped death from the great catastrophe only to meet death from bandits who preyed upon them on the roads leading out of Tokio and Yokohama.

J P. Mollison, a prominent British merchant was one of the victims of a robber band, according to stories told by refugees here today While fleeing out of Tokio Mollison was held up and murdered by Japanese bandits. Mollison had just had a narrow escape from a falling building

Imprisoned Five Days.

OSAKA, Japan, Sept 12—With her brown eyes lighting equisitely, beautiful Maria Luisa Del Corril, daughter of the Argentine minister to Japan, today told International News Service the dramatic story of her narrow escape from death

Maria Luisa, together with her father and mother, was entombed for five days and nights with hardly any food or water when the Yokohama station collapsed over them on that fateful first of September when Japan was visited by the worst earthquake, tidal wave and fire disaster of all history.

The girl, who is a rare beauty, with features resembling a delicate cameo, is one of the most popular young women of the diplomatic set at Tokio Her loveliness is known throughout Japan.

Mr. and Mrs Del Corrill and their daughter reached a relief ship in the bay of Tokio after five days of living horror, buried underneath a huge mountain of debris, with threatening suffocation, starvation and thirst adding fearful torture to their misery They feared every minute would be their last With tears in her eyes, the girl said·

"With my parents I was siting on the platform at the Ykoohama station for a train to take us to Tokio. All of a sudden, without the slightest warning a horrible shaking of the ground literally threw us off our feet. The whole depot building crashed to the ground. In one moment, the whole scene was one weird inferno.

"The shock knocked us clear off the platform of the depot on the tracks The earth kept on vibrating so fiercely that we could hardly stand up Miraculously neither one of us was struck by any falling wreckage We managed to crawl to a clear space amid the ruins over us and about us nd there remained trembling with fear as the terrible earthquake continued knocking with what seemed to be unabated violence

"When the earth shocks ceased we discovered we were prisoners in the desolate ruins of the station building, and that immediate escape was out of the question. In another clearance near us was a group of buddhist priests who added to the horror of the situation by chanting mournful prayers. They kept this up continually.

"They could reach over their wall of ruins and hand us things but there was not a sufficient opening for us to all get together In this manner they generously shared with us their pitifully meager supply of rough rice and dirty water, which was hardly enough to keep body and soul together.

"Through openings of our fearful tomb we could see the city of Yokohama being destroyed by a sheet of flame. The ghastly glare of the fire combined with the shrieks of dying hundreds almost drove my mother and me to madness. Even now I can hear those awful groans and cries of agony.

"My father stood guard over mother and me during the night time, with a pistol in his hand in case vandals should succeed in reaching us through the apparently sky high-ruins."

BURLESQUERS MAKE BIG HIT

The Broadway Belles opened the burlesque season at the Rialto theatre last night before a fair audience. The show was above the average of this class of entertainments It was a conglomeration of nonsense with a good mixture of comedy and music. The comedians were funny, and the chorus full of pep and they were handsomely costumed.

The entertainment was in two parts, the first devoted to song hits and vaudeville, and the second a dainty bit entitled, "On the Nile."

The management plan burlesque on each Tuesday evening, and next week have booked "The Dancing Fools."

THEATRES

Dreamland—Gladys Walton in "Gossip" If you're tired of flapperisms and too modern girls, you'll welcome the heroine of this picture She is refreshingly out of date and as sweet as the memories of her southern home. A good comedy and a feature picture completes the program.

Colonial—"Brawn of the North," with Strongheart, the wonder dog featured. This dog is almost human in his reasoning, and the stunts he pulls off are a source of wonder to those who witness his performance. It is a wonderful tale of the greath northwest. A good comedy and a feature picture are also shown.

Grand—The great picture, "Hollywood," participated in by some twenty of the greatest screen artists on the stage today. It is a real inside story of the life at this greatest of all picture producing homes, and is well worth seeing.

American—The story of Cherry Malotte, is told in "The Spoilers," a tale of her adventures in the Northwest. There is a world of adventure and exciting scenes that stir the blood that can be seen in this picture. There is also a fine comedy, and the new World pictures.

COLUMBUS, Sept 12—Because the Crawford county courts assigned his suit against the Hopley Printing Company, Bucyrus, for trial while he was in prison, Harry F Everett, Bucyrus, has asked the state supreme court to review the case.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12—Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, the only dentist ever elected to the United States senate, will address a general session of the American dentists association at Public Hall tonight upon the "scientific man as a citizen."

Revelations of a Wife

The Way the Anxious Vigil Ended.

THE vagaries of one's brain defy any analysis. I have contemplated this truth many times, but never have I had it borne in upon me more forcibly than in the three hours of my vigil over Junior which followed Katherine's watch of an equal time after we had fought and conquered his terrorising attack of croup.

While Katherine was watching and I was supposed to be sleeping, I had been unable to get to sleep until nearly half of my alloted time was over. Yet now that I was supposed to be wakeful, it seemed an absolute impossibility to hold my eyes open. I tried every device I knew, and finally by sheer will power succeeded—so well, indeed, that when it was time for Katherine to waken I was as wide awake as I ever had been in my life.

It was a pity to awaken her, I thought, and though I feared her displeasure, I decided to continue my vigil a little longer, at least until Junior should waken. But almost on the stroke of the hour she had named, Katherine opened her eyes and looked at me with a comprehending grin.

"Smarty! Smarty!" she quoted. "Thought you wouldn't invite me again to this party, didn't you? You forget that I have trained myself to waken almost on the minute I set in my own mind. But I don't tell everybody that. It's a trade secret, so don't give it away."

"I'm on the Job Now."

"But there isn't the slightest reason for you to get up now." I protested even as I marvelled again at the bright cheeriness of her face, wondered again if I had dreamed her unguarded betrayal of misery when she thought I was sound asleep. Yet the echo of her low wail: "Oh! God! my empty arms!" seemed yet to echo in the corner of the room. And when I looked into her eyes I fancied that I saw the strain behind the bravery, and decided that I had not been mistaken after all, and that she was hiding real heartbreak behind the cheery mask to which she had accustomed us.

"Nor is there any reason for me to sleep when it's my trick, either," she said, and then Mother Graham's voice, crisp, efficient, yet low-toned, sounded from the doorway. She was fully-dressed, carefully-coiffured and fairly radiated capability

"Please remember, girls, that I'm on the job now," she said with decision, and Katherine, raising herself on one elbow, smiled indulgently at her.

Katherine's Directions.

"If you'll promise to waken me when Junior awakes," she said "I'll take another snooze. He must have an alcohol rub after all this perspiring, and it is very important, as you know, not to let him get chilled this morning."

Her voice expressed the utmost deference to the elder woman and Mother Graham—in Dicky's parlance — ate it up.

"Of course I'll promise," she said, "but what about Margaret? She looks worn out."

"I was just coming to that," Katherine replied with a mischievous look at me. "She is to be exiled, for bed, or breakfast or both, whichever she wishes. But she is to get herself away from here at once."

I smothered the unworthy pique which is the thing mothers have to fight when other hands than their own care for their children, and smiled back at my friends.

"I couldn't sleep if I tried, now," I said, "so I'm going to take a quick shower, a cup of coffee and a brisk walk. By the time I come back, perhaps Junior will be awake."

"No doubt he will," Katherine drawled, "and you'll be able to see that we haven't amputated any of his fingers or toes." But her eyes were tender, and I knew that her raillery hid comprehending sympathy with my feeling.

"You'd better produce the full complement," I threatened, and then turned to my mother-in-law. "Is Katie up, do you happen to know?"

"Up!" she ejaculated. "I should think she is! She has breakfast all ready. I've just had mine, and when you go down tell her to keep things hot for Mrs. Bickett until she comes. Or would you like a tray now?" She turned to Katherine solicitously.

"I want nothing but another snooze," Katherine said drowsily as she turned over and thumped her pillow into shape. "I'm not a bit hungry and any time this morning will do for my breakfast. So long, Madge Say good morning to the cows for me."

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adele Garrison's New Phase of

Revelations of a Wife

Copyright, 1923, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Way the Anxious Vigil Ended.

THE vagaries of one's brain defy any analysis. I have contemplated this truth many times, but never have I had it borne in upon me more forcibly than in the three hours of my vigil over Junior which followed Katherine's watch of an equal time after we had fought and conquered his terrorizing attack of croup.

While Katherine was watching and I was supposed to be sleeping, I had been unable to get to sleep until nearly half of my alloted time was over. Yet now that I was supposed to be wakeful, it seemed an absolute impossibility to hold my eyes open. I tried every device I knew, and finally by sheer will power succeeded—so well, indeed, that when it was time for Katherine to waken I was as wide awake as I ever had been in my life.

It was a pity to awaken her, I thought, and though I feared her displeasure, I decided to continue my vigil a little longer, at least until Junior should waken. But almost on the stroke of the hour she had named, Katherine opened her eyes and looked at me with a comprehending grin.

"Smarty! Smarty!" she quoted. "Thought you wouldn't invite me again to this party, didn't you? You forget that I have trained myself to waken almost on the minute I set in my own mind. But I don't tell everybody that. It's a trade secret, so don't give it away."

"I'm on the Job Now."

"But there isn't the slightest reason for you to get up now." I protested even as I marvelled again at the bright cheeriness of her face. wondered again if I had dreamed her unguarded betrayal of misery when she thought I was sound asleep. Yet the echo of her low wail: "Oh! God! my empty arms!" seemed yet to echo in the corner of the room. And when I looked into her eyes I fancied that I saw the strain behind the bravery, and decided that I had not been mistaken after all, and that she was hiding real heartbreak behind the cheery mask to which she had accustomed us.

"Nor is there any reason for me to sleep when it's my trick, either," she said, and then Mother Graham's voice, crisp, efficient, yet low-toned, sounded from the doorway. She was fully-dressed, carefully-coiffured and fairly radiated capability

"Please remember, girls, that I'm on the job now." she said with decision, and Katherine, raising herself on one elbow, smiled indulgently at her.

Katherine's Directions.

"If you'll promise to waken me when Junior awakes," she said "I'll take another snooze. He must have an alcohol rub after all this perspiring, and it is very important, as you know, not to let him get chilled this morning."

Her voice expressed the utmost deference to the elder woman and Mother Graham—in Dicky's parlance — ate it up

"Of course I'll promise," she said, "but what about Margaret? She looks worn out."

"I was just coming to that," Katherine replied with a mischievous look at me. "She is to be exiled, for bed, or breakfast or both, whichever she wishes. But she is to get herself away from here at once."

I smothered the unworthy pique which is the thing mothers have to fight when other hands than their own care for their children, and smiled back at my friends.

"I couldn't sleep if I tried, now." I said, "so I'm going to take a quick shower, a cup of coffee and a brisk walk. By the time I come back, perhaps Junior will be awake."

"No doubt he will," Katherine drawled, "and you'll be able to see that we haven't amputated any of his fingers or toes." But her eyes were tender, and I knew that her raillery hid comprehending sympathy with my feeling.

"You'd better produce the full complement," I threatened, and then turned to my mother-in-law. "Is Katie up, do you happen to know?"

"Up" she ejaculated. "I should think she is! She has breakfast all ready. I've just had mine, and when you go down tell her to keep things hot for Mrs. Bickett until she comes. Or would you like a tray now?" She turned to Katherine solicitously.

"I want nothing but another snooze," Katherine said drowsily as she turned over and thumped her pillow into shape. "I'm not a bit hungry and any time this morning will do for my breakfast. So long, Madge. Say good morning to the cows for me."

Correct and Corrective

To get a shoe which expresses the mode with authority and distinction is no easy task.

And to possess a shoe which scientifically relieves discomfort, supports weak arches, and prevents foot ills is cause for congratulations.

So it is not hard to understand the enthusiasm of the women who have learned that Menihan's Arch-Aid Shoes do both to an unusual degree.

Our scientific fitting service is another reason why you should visit this store for your early Fall footwear.
